Tax Investigation Service

HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC) is facing more pressure than ever before to reduce the “tax gap” - this is the difference between what HMRC expects to collect in taxes and what it actually collects. In the 2024 Spring Budget, the government announced further funding to HMRC to give them the resources needed to collect an extra £4.5bn in tax revenue this year.

HMRC have already refocused their resources into their enquiry and compliance activities, launching numerous “campaigns” and issuing “Nudge” letters to taxpayers, where HMRC believe there is a deficiency in their tax affairs. With new funds being made available to HMRC, we expect that this means increased enquiry activity and puts taxpayers at a greater risk of an HMRC enquiry, now more than ever before. This applies to businesses of all sizes as well as individuals’ tax affairs.

In addition to their usual approach to selecting taxpayers’ returns for enquiry, using risk-based methods as well as random selections, HMRC is focusing more efforts to close the tax gap across all groups of taxpayers, including small and mid-sized businesses and individuals who between them account for almost 70% of the tax that HMRC expects to collect but fails to do so.

If your tax affairs are selected by HMRC for enquiry, the process can be time consuming and take several months to resolve, even if there is no additional tax to pay at the end of the enquiry. Any enquiry will incur professional fees. In more complex cases, those fees could amount to thousands of pounds.

At M+A Partners we know the stress of an investigation is the last thing most taxpayers want to deal with. Any HMRC enquiry requires specialist advice and investigations are much easier to manage if you know what to expect. We are on hand to support you and deal with your enquiry for you.
